Nominated Without Opposition to Succeed Le Masurier from Madison Ward.

Joseph E. Powers was elected a member of the Board of Aldermen last night to succeed Robert Le Masurier, of Madison Ward. His name was presented by Alderman Dabney as the choice of the ward delegation. There were no other nominations.

Under a suspension of rules the Board adopted a resolution defining the manner in which persons shall apply for liquor licenses, beginning February 1st next. Briefly, it provides that the dealer shall make application to the Commission on the 15th day of the city in writing, fifteen days prior to the date upon which he desires such license to become effective. The applicant's full name must be given; in the case of a firm the full name of each member must be included. The application must be indorsed by the commissioner and sent to the Hustings Court. If granted, it will be certified to the commissioner, who shall issue a license only after the full amount is paid. Judge Witt, however, will say who shall and who shall not sell.

The Board considered in the following ordinances from the Common Council: To require the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company to erect and maintain a bridge over the canal at Sixth and Byrd Streets. To refund to P. P. Tallafero the sum of $307.97, judgment against him in the suit of W. F. Shepherd against the city.

To appropriate $5,000 to hands and carts account and $3,000 to the Street Cleaning Department.

To appropriate the sum of $15,000 for rebuilding and strengthening the feeder wall at the settling basin.

To defray the city's expenses for the Tuberculosis Exhibit.

Alderman Adams introduced a resolution directing the Engineering Department to restore the alley between First and St. James and Clay and Leigh Streets to its former grade. It was adopted.

Just before adjournment President Tamm announced the death of City Engineer Cutshaw. A joint meeting of the two branches will be held an hour before the funeral. All city officials and employees will be invited, and the Council will attend the funeral in a body.

EXTEND BACK SEVEN YEARS.

Report of Bank Receiver Shows Irregularities in Long Standing.

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 19.—John G. Griffin, receiver of the People's Bank of Portsmouth, whose cashier, A. B. Hunt, was yesterday arrested for alleged falsification in connection with the amount of $24,000, filed his first report this afternoon.

The receiver gives the assets of bank as $225,000, less $67,365, in the demand for which there is no evidence of debt. The last statement of the bank reported deposits of over $400,000.

The receiver's report shows that in one instance an error of $100,000 was carried forward and that the figures were repeatedly raised, this being in some instances from $25,000 to $100,000 without apparent cause or reason. The alleged false entries date back to 1900.

COL. CUTSHAW, LONG
SICK, PASSES AWAY

Signed to enter the service of the Confederate Army.

In April, 1861, Colonel Cutshaw was made a first lieutenant in the regular army, and assigned to a battalion of artillery in the brigade of General T. J. Jackson. In the spring of 1862 he was promoted to captain of artillery; in the fall of 1862 he was made a major, and in February, 1863, he became a lieutenant-colonel, with command of a battalion of artillery.

His Brilliant War Record.

Colonel Cutshaw's war record was an exceptionally brilliant one, even in a city which has thronged with the heroes of the Confederacy. He participated in the operations of General Magruder in the Peninsula in the summer of 1861, and in the campaigns of Jackson in the Valley in the spring of 1862, in which he commanded a battery of artillery.

Colonel Cutshaw, taking part in a number of vigorous engagements, he was severely wounded in the battle of Winchester, in May, 1862, when a bullet pierced his left knee, and he was captured by the Federal forces. He remained a prisoner within the enemy's lines until exchanged as a prisoner of war in April, 1862. Having been pronounced by a medical examining board as unfit for active duty, he was assigned as acting commander of cadets at the Virginia Military Institute, a position which he held until September, 1863, when he applied for readmission into the Confederate Army, and was accepted, notwithstanding the fact that his wound was unhealed. He was assigned to duty as Inspector-General of artillery, Second Corps, Army of Northern Virginia, participating in a number of battles in 1863 and 1864. While in command of a battalion of artillery of the Second Army Corps in 1864, in the Wilderness of Spotsylvania, Colonel Cutshaw received a wound in his right arm.

In February, 1865, he received his rank of lieutenant-colonel of artillery, in which capacity he served until April, 1865, when in the battle of Sailor's Creek, just three days before the surrender at Appomattox, he received a wound in his right leg, and the next morning the leg was amputated between the knee and the hip. While lying in his bed, Colonel Cutshaw gave his final parole, after a record for the most gallant and self-sacrificing service. His name is identified with Cutshaw's Battalion, one of the most serviceable and famous in the artillery of the Confederate army.

For a year after the war Colonel Cutshaw engaged in temporary pursuits. In September, 1866, he was appointed assistant professor of mathematics in the Virginia Military Institute, the position held previous to the war by Major. Afterwards General T. J. Jackson.

Served City 34 Years.

In January, 1868, he was appointed assistant to Charles P. Stone, engineer and superintendent of the Dover County and Iron Company, of Henrico county. Colonel Cutshaw continued his connection with the Virginia Military Institute, as professor of mathematics, becoming in 1871 professor of civil and military engineering in that institution, which position he held until the fall of 1873, when he was elected City Engineer of the city of Richmond, a position which he had ably and acceptably filled for more than thirty-four years.

During his service as City Engineer of Richmond, Colonel Cutshaw saw the city practically rebuilt, until the last trace of the ravages of war had disappeared. The water system of the city has been entirely reconstructed, the streets resurveyed, graded and paved, alleys opened, water and gas mains extended, and the city's boundaries pushed outwards several times. Perhaps the most notable work of the City Engineer's Department in this period was the construction of the City Hall, which was built by day labor under the personal supervision of Colonel Cutshaw and his assistants.

Known everywhere as a man of iron will, indomitable perseverance and of the highest integrity, Colonel Cutshaw had ever guarded jealously the city's interests. His policy before the committees of the Council had always been for a comprehensive system of permanent improvement rather than a temporary provision, and the whole scheme of sewerage which has been

Action of State Board of Education
Indicates Its Early Adoption.

Although the State Board of Education was in session for a long time yesterday only two matters of public interest were finally disposed of. The most important of these was the adoption of a resolution to advise for the State Board of Education for the public schools of the State with text books during the next four years.

The other matter was the election of a division superintendent for Allegheny county to succeed the late William Greener, and leaves also her twin sister, Mrs. Marguerite White, and Mrs. W. W. Leake, two sisters and one brother. Two of them, Mr. A. Grant and Miss Julia Grant, are residents of Richmond.

The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from Broad Street Methodist Church. The interment will be made in Hollywood.

Mrs. Mary C. Leake, died Tuesday, December 17th, at her residence in Wellesley Hills, Mass., of heart failure. Mrs. Leake is survived by her husband, Mr. J. F. Leake, two sisters and one brother. Two of them, Mr. A. Grant and Miss Julia Grant, are residents of Richmond.
